Union textile minister Smriti Irani visited Ahmedabad on Saturday to list achievements during four years of the Modi government. However, the minister parried questions on hike in fuel prices.

To a question on whether the government proposed to reduce taxes on fuel so as to bring down its prices and curb inflation, Irani said, "I am not the petroleum minister nor the finance minister, so I cannot reply to this question." She said, "Under the UPA government, petrol prices rose by Rs 4 per year. Under the NDA rule, we have been able to control that rise to around Rs 1 per year."

Irani said that the petroleum minister was of the opinion that fuel should be brought within the ambit of the GST so that its prices can be reduced.

She said that Gujarat, like all other states, was a beneficiary of central schemes such as Mudra and Jan Dhan Yojana. Irani claimed that her ministry had worked pro-actively to set the textile sector on the path of growth.
